

Jester Bulletin

May 30, 2011

General and Summer Programs

High School Summer College at Stanford University invites a limited number of talented students (rising Juniors and Seniors) from the U.S. and around the world to attend this eight-week program (June 18-August 14) to challenge their intellects, immerse themselves in a stimulating academic community, and experience a dynamic university environment. Choose from over 100 courses and earn class credit and official Stanford transcript; Develop a stronger sense of your future; Work with Stanford Admission staff and learn about the admission process; Experience college life in a dorm setting; Engage in a wide range of academic, cultural, and social extracurricular offerings. Visit summer.stanford.edu to learn more about the program and partial scholarships.

Boston University Summer Term High School Programs will provide academic challenge, summer fun, and a preview of college life in four great programs to choose from: High School Honors (2 courses for up to 8 college credits); Research Internship in Science & Engineering (a research project in a B.U. lab); Summer Challenge (2 non-credit seminars from a series of exciting academic subjects); Summer Preview (a 1-week study of 1 subject in depth while becoming familiar with college life). Learn more at bu.edu/summer/highschool.

Otis College of Art and Design in Los Angeles will be holding a summer college prep program July 5-29 in Animation; Architecture/Landscape/Interiors; Black and White Photography; Digital Media; Digital Photography; Drawing and Painting in the Anime style; Fashion Design; Graphic Design; Illustration, Life Drawing; Painting; Product Design; Sculpture; and Toy Design. For more information visit otis.edu/soa, call (800) 527-6847 or (310) 665-6864, or email: soa@otis.edu

UCLA High School Summer Language Institute, June 28 – July 28, offers Italian for non-heritage and heritage speakers. Earn one year of high school language credit in just five weeks! For more information contact The Center for World Languages cw1@international.ucla.edu or (310) 825-2510. For pre-registration visit www.hslanguages.ucla.edu.

Cornell University Summer College offers award-winning programs, from Architecture to Veterinary Medicine, for high school students. The three and six-week programs are held between June 25 and August 9. Want to know more? Visit www.summercollege.cornell.edu

Georgetown University Summer Programs for High School Students afford students the opportunity to get ahead and to make plans for the future while expanding their horizons and finding their passions. Whether students would like to earn college credit, explore a new interest, or simply experience the vibrancy and stimulation of university life, students are certain to find a program that sets them apart from others and leaves a lasting impression for years to come. Various programs last from eight days to ten weeks. The programs take students out of the classroom, allowing them to experience the action of Congressional hearings, Pentagon briefings, foreign embassies, Capitol Hill offices, prominent government institutions focused on security and intelligence, and other exciting Washington, DC events. For more information visit scs.georgetown.edu/summerhonors.

New York University Precollege Summer 2011 Program offers rising high school juniors and seniors the opportunity to take up to two college-level courses at their Washington Square campus. Six-week (July 5-Aug 12) courses in anthropology, computer science, languages, music, and/or psychology would be taken with current NYU students and taught by their faculty. Attend a noncredit free writing workshop, college-planning sessions and a summer college fair. See a Broadway show and make new friends. Scholarships are available. For the most up to date information visit www.nyu.edu/info/precollege/info.

Summer Discovery & Discovery Internships 2011 has 4-week improved and expanded discovery internship programs in New York, Boston, Los Angeles, London, Chicago, and San Francisco with guaranteed internship in your fields of choice. There is Summer Discovery @ Shanghai China where you can take classes in Mandarin Chinese, etc.; courses at Culinary Institute @ UPenn; study in Barcelona, Madrid, and Valencia Spain, at UC Santa Barbara and UC San Diego, at UPenn at the English Language Academy, and at UCLA and other campuses in enhanced ESL programs. Visit WWW.summerdiscovery.com for more information, videos and photos. Apply online now.

California College of the Arts in Oakland, CA will be offering their 25th annual Pre-College Program for high school students (who have completed their sophomore, junior, or senior year) from June 27 - July 22, 2011. The program offers the opportunity to study art, design or creative writing in an intensive art school setting while earning 3 college credits. Be part of a creative community, meet and work with other talented, serious students who share your interests, and get a taste of college life. On-campus housing and scholarships are available. Financial aid is available to students with demonstrated artistic and academic promise and documented financial need. For information and downloadable applications, visit www.cca.edu/precollege.

Summer Study Programs, Inc. on the campuses of Penn State University, The University of Colorado at Boulder, the University of Vermont, and the Sorbonne in Paris, France offer action-packed pre-college summer programs for high school students. Office copy brochures are available in the College/Career Center. For complete information and applications visit www.summerstudy.com.

Washington University in St. Louis, MO has 3-week non-credit and 5-week credit courses for current sophomores or juniors with a B+ or better average. Program offers a perfect blend of college-level expectation, social interaction, and exposure to the college way of life. For application materials and more information, visit <http://summerscholars.wustl.edu>.

Summer at USC – Live the Trojan Experience High school students get a preview of “freshman year” through one to four-week programs on the SC campus. Courses in architecture, business, engineering, journalism, pre-health, pre-law, science, visual & performing art, and writing will be offered. Visit summer@usc.edu to find the USC summer program for you.

The Yosemite Institute Field Research Course, July 30 – August 12, is for high school students with a passion for exploration, science, and adventure. Go on a backpacking adventure in Yosemite National Park, create your own research project, and earn college credit. Register today or find out more at www.yosemitefieldresearch.org.

Wharton University of Pennsylvania offers two pre-college programs for rising high school juniors and seniors: Management and Technology Summer Institute and Wharton Sports Business Academy. Students are given a special opportunity to explore and discover their particular academic interests on a dynamic and vibrant Ivy League Campus. Students will learn about the possibilities that an undergraduate business education affords and, at the same time, build knowledge and skills to prepare them for the future. For more information about each program and how to apply, visit <http://www.wharton.upenn.edu/academics/pre-college-programs.cfm>.

